The University

The University of Maryland is one of the largest state universities in the United States, and has five campuses. The largest of these is at College Park with approximately 38,000 students. University of Maryland offers graduate degrees in 70 academic areas. The campus is less than 10 miles from the center of Washington, DC.

The Department of Art

The Department of Art offers a program of graduate study leading to the degree of Master of Fine Arts. The graduate faculty consists of active professional artists specializing in the traditional studio areas of painting, printmaking, sculpture, drawing and digital media. Additional interests are reflected in course offerings such as environmental art and multimedia. In 1990, the Department of Art developed an Art Theory component to its course offering. These courses, taught by practicing visual artists, have added greatly to the conceptual breadth of both the undergraduate and graduate programs at Maryland.

The Department of Art’s educational philosophy places great emphasis on individual growth. Students are encouraged to approach their work with a willingness to explore new ideas, a sense of dedication and the desire to challenge past assumptions. Students who are accepted into the program have already created a coherent body of work. They spend their three years at the University exploring their work in-depth, as well as pursuing new directions. Interaction with other students and with the wide range of faculty is encouraged; the Department of Art also emphasizes a multicultural awareness of historical, theoretical and contemporary art issues. This is reflected in the Colloquium / Art History/Art Theory requirement for the MFA degree as well as the larger context in which the students are expected to critique their own work.

Studio facilities are spacious and well-equipped. Painting and drawing students are encouraged to explore a broad range of medias. The sculpture area includes a woodshop, a welding and forging area, a stone and related materials area (both indoors and outdoors), and an active foundry. Printmakers may choose to work in intaglio, lithography, photo processes, relief and multimedia. There is also papermaking capabilities. New Genre technologies are also available. Other median such as mixed media, installation are encouraged.

All graduate students are provided with studio space. These studios, average 15’ x 20’, are centrally located in the art building. Environmental works and sculptural installations may be built both indoors and on the building grounds.

Within the art building, there two galleries and two libraries; The Art Gallery, an independent unit that works closely within the Department of Art, features national and international, contemporary and historical exhibitions, as well as faculty and annual MFA Thesis shows.

The West Gallery is a student organized gallery that features student exhibitions, lectures, special projects and a space for social activities. The Art Library, separate from the large research libraries on campus, has an outstanding collection of books, catalogs, periodicals and reproductions, all indexed on computer and CD-ROM systems. Also housed within the building is the well equipped Electronic Media Center (EMC).

THE GRADUATE PROGRAM IN THE DEPARTMENT OF ART

THE MASTER OF FINE ARTS PROGRAMS

The Department of Art at the University of Maryland has an internationally recognized MFA program. Since the mid-1970’s its graduates have succeeded in the art world, their works recognized by museums, galleries, critical publications, the National Endowment for the Arts and other granting organizations. In addition, many graduates have received teaching appointments at major institutions across the country.

The MFA degree is in the final degree in studio art. It is not simply an extension of undergraduate study that is commonly associated with many other Master’s degrees. The application process for the MFA degree is very competitive and follows rigorous admissions standards. The Department of Art is looking for students who have developed coherent bodies of artwork that are personal and focused. This body of artwork, as professionally documented on slides, is the primary basis for admittance. Only the highest level of undergraduate artistic achievement is appropriate for graduate application. Although many of our MFA students come directly from undergraduate programs, an even larger number are returning to graduate school after a period of independent artistic development.

MASTER OF FINE ARTS DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Candidates for the Master of Fine Arts Degree must complete a program that consists of 60 credits hours. These 60 credit hours break down into 33 credits in Studio, Practicum and/or Teaching Internships; 6 credits in Art History/Art Theory; 12 credits in Graduate Colloquium and 9 credits in Thesis Research. Each MFA candidate in their final semester must select a thesis advisor along with a thesis committee. Students must present their artwork in a Thesis Exhibition, installed in the Art Gallery each spring, develop a written component to the Thesis and present an oral defense of the Thesis.
Procedures for applying to the MFA program

Students are only admitted during the fall semester for the MFA program. Students can apply to the program in one of the following areas: Drawing, Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture, Digital Media or other Medias such as new genre and installation i.e. (computer based work). Students are encouraged to work with graduate faculty members from various disciplines offered in the program.

An undergraduate degree with a major in art from an accredited college, university, art school or its equivalent is recommended for admission into the graduate program. All applicants should have a minimum of 30 undergraduate credit hours in studio art courses and approximately 12 credit hours in art history. Other humanities courses should be a part of a candidate’s undergraduate preparation.

THE ADMISSION PROCESS

1. To apply to the MFA Program applicants are encouraged to complete the Graduate School Application available online at www.gradschool.umd.edu As well as the requisite application fee. * If for any reason you are unable to access the application, a general Graduate Application form can be requested by contacting the Office of Graduate Admissions:

   Office of Graduate Admissions
   2117 Lee Building
   University of Maryland
   College Park, MD 20742-5121
   301-405-4198

2. The following materials should be submitted online or sent to:

   Enrollment Services Office-Graduate Admissions
   Box G, Mitchell Building
   University of Maryland, College Park
   College Park, MD 20742

   - A completed application form
   - A non refundable application fee of $60.00
   - One complete set of transcripts reflecting all undergraduate and graduate work completed or in progress.
   - A Maryland in-state status form (for those who wish to apply for Maryland resident status.)
   - Three letters of recommendation
   - Statement of Goals, Research Interests and Experiences
3. When applying to the program, make sure you clearly indicate your area of concentration as Design/Visual Communication, Drawing, Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture or other Medias by specifications. The Department code is ARTT.

4. (15) 35mm slides and slide list should be sent to:

   Department of Art
   University of Maryland College Park
   Rm.1211E Art/Sociology Building
   College Park, MD 20742-1211

   If you enclose more than 15 slides, only the first 15 will be viewed.

   NOTE: If you would like to have your slides returned, please include a stamped, self-addressed envelope with you application materials. For those not wishing to have their slides returned by mail, you may call (301) 405-1445 to arrange pickup of slides after you have received your letter regarding your application status from the Department of Art’s office. Slides will only be returned to you under the circumstances mentioned.

5. If at any time you wish to check on the status of your application materials you may do so by going back online, www.gradschool.umd.edu.

6. All decisions made by the Graduate Selection Committee are final. Please be assured that all applicants receive thorough consideration. All aspects of the application will be reviewed, including the slide portfolio, statement of purpose, academic strength, art-related background and letters of recommendation. The most critical aspect of the review process focuses on the quality of the slide portfolio.

OFFER OF ADMISSION

Applicants admitted into the MFA program will receive an official letter of acceptance from the Graduate School that specifies the date of entrance. Another letter of acceptance will come from the department outlining specific entrance date as well as any financial information. If you decide to accept, decline or change the effective date of offer, please notify the Graduate School or the offer of admission will become void. Failure to register for the authorized semester also voids the offer of admission. Also note that if voided, then you must submit another application and may be required to submit additional credentials to be considered for admission the following fall semester.

After receiving your admission letter please sign and return your decision card (normally enclosed in the packet with your admit letter) by May 1st of the year that you are accepted. Please make every effort to contact the advisors (most likely the Graduate Director) prior to the end of the spring semester as he/she is readily available during this time. This may be done by phone, upon arrival or prior to the beginning of the semester. For general information and/or questions you can contact the MFA Graduate Office Assistant.
SLIDE PREPARATION

For submission into the MFA program applicants are required to submit (15) fifteen slides of their best work for the Graduate Committee to review. *If an application is submitted without slides the applicant will not be considered for admission.

When preparing slides:

- Slides MUST be loaded in a standard carousel tray, for example a Kodak carousel transvue (80 slide tray). Each applicant must submit slides loaded in the (specified) carousel tray and sent to the department ready for projection/viewing. Slides should enforce knowledge of area interested in.

- The following information should be clearly marked on each slide:
  - Artist’s name
  - Title of Work
  - Medium
  - Size (in inches)
  - Date of Work
  - A red dot on lower left hand corner of image on front side
  - A number on the top right-hand corner of the image
  - Use standard 35mm Kodachrome or Ektachrome slides (or the equivalent)
  - Please include a numbered list with the title, size, medium and date to correspond with each slide.

Slides incorrectly loaded in the carousel will not be viewed by the Selection Committee. Label outside the rim of the carousel with your name, address, and contact information. If you wish to have your slides and carousel returned, send a self-addressed stamped envelope (one that will accommodate your carousel as well), with correct postage.

TO ENSURE THROUGH PROCESSING OF YOUR SLIDES, PLEASE FOLLOW THE ABOVE INSTRUCTIONS VERY CAREFULLY.

Since the Selection Committee makes its primary judgment from the portfolio, it is important that the slides are of high quality. Unmarked slides will NOT BE viewed by the selection Committee.

INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

When applying for admission to the graduate program your application will be reviewed by three separate areas of the University: the academic department for which you are applying for, The Department of International Education Service (IES) and The Graduate School.

Special Note for International Students:

- International Academic Credential review: To assure full consideration the Enrollment Service Office must receive your completed application as well as official records/marksheets in the original language with literal English translations by the appropriate deadline date.

- Financial Certification: International applicants applying to the MFA Program must certify sufficient funds (exclusive of travel funds) to cover university fees, tuition, books, supplies and living expenses for themselves and for dependents (if applicable). Funds can be demonstrated in the form of personal funds, parental or sponsor funds, government support or through an assistanceship at UMD or any other official sources of income.

  Information on how to certify proof of financial solvency can be found by accessing the Graduate School’s website at www.gradschool.com or at iesadv@deans.umd.edu.

- English Proficiency: Applicants must demonstrate English language proficiency by taking the Test of English Language as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS), both test are designed to assist International students in the development of understanding, reading, writing and speaking English fluently.

- Immigration Documents: when applying online applicants are required to note the type of visa they currently hold or will need to study at the university. In addition, if you are a current holder of a visa or Permanent Resident card, you must submit copies of that visa or Permanent Resident card with your application. Students who require specific forms to obtain appropriate student immigration status can do so by contacting the International Enrollment Service (IES) at 301-314-7740.

- Non-US Citizens should address all questions to:

ADVANCED SPECIAL STUDENT STATUS

The Graduate School at the University of Maryland offers non-degree admissions to individuals already holding a BA or other undergraduate degrees but have yet to be admitted into graduate programs such as the MFA. Individuals admitted in this category are admitted as Advanced Special Student (ASS). An admission to ASS status is granted by the Dean of Graduate Studies and Research, and students are considered active for up to five years from the first semesters of enrollment. If there is no registration in two consecutive academic semesters (Fall and Spring), the admitted status will lapse and a new application will be required.

The Advanced Special Students status is not available to students in F-1 or J-1 status. Interested applicants should consult with the Office of International Education Service at 301-314-7740 if you have any questions concerning the expectations in this category.

Students admitted to the Graduate School in the Advanced Special Students category are not in the Graduate Program and are not assigned advisors; neither are they required to meet program standards. The Department of Art offers informal advising to Advance Special Students but entrance at this level has no formal bearing on a student’s application for the graduate program. Please note that as many as six 400-level credits may be applied to the MFA program after a student has been admitted.

Successful completion of courses taken as an Advanced Special Students does not guarantee admission to a graduate degree or certificate program. Each program may accept such courses in satisfaction of program requirements to a maximum of twelve (12) credits contingent on admission to the degree or certificate program and on the approval of the faculty in the program.

The Application deadlines for U.S. citizens and permanent residents are as followed:

- Fall: August 31st
- Spring: January 15th
- Summer Session: May 15th
- Summer Session: June 15th

For more information about non-degree and special admissions please visit the graduate school website at www.gradschool.umd.edu under prospective student or contact the Graduate Admissions Office at 301-405-0378.
FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The University of Maryland is aware of the increase in the cost of education today and in an effort to curb those expenses we offer financial assistance to qualified students through a variety of programs.

Three campus units that administer the primary forms of financial support are:
- The Graduate School
- The Individual Department
- The Office of Student Financial Aid

FELLOWSHIP

The Graduate School processes applications for University of Maryland Fellowships. Students with strong academic potential admitted and enrolled full time in a graduate degree program may be considered for Graduate School Fellowships. No duties are assigned to Fellowship recipients as they are expected to devote full time to their studies. The Fellowship includes 10 credits of tuition remission per semester and a stipend. The current stipend ranges from an estimated $12,004 to $16,200. Awards are based on a student’s academic record and letters of recommendation. Award dates are mid-March through April 15th. The responsibilities of nominating and selecting Fellowship recipients are done so by the Department; students do not apply for fellowship. Fellowships are awarded annually and begin in the fall academic year. New Fellowships are not offered in the spring semester.

ASSISTANCESHIP

Graduate assistanceship requires approximately 20 hours of work per week throughout the assignment. Nine and half graduate assistants receive 10 credits of tuition remission per semester and a stipend of an estimated $12,000 to $16,320; half assistances work 10 hours per week and receive 5 credits of tuition remission and half the appropriate stipend. Teaching assistants support departments in the instruction of undergraduate courses. Award dates on the graduate program or employing office.

The Department of Art currently awards full and half Graduate Assistantship (GA) approximately eight each year. Full assistantships provide a stipend of approximately $12,000 annually, ten credits of tuition remission each semester and health benefits. Full Graduate Assistants are assigned 20 hours per week of duties that include assisting in classes, assisting in the Art Gallery and monitoring studios during non-class hours. Graduate Assistanceship is awarded for merit and are highly competitive. Assistanceships are evaluated thoroughly each semester.
SCHOLARSHIPS

The Graduate School has a very limited number of scholarships: Graduate School Tuition Scholarships and Matching Tuition Scholarships. Each Scholarship provides remission of up to 10 (sometimes 12) tuition credits per semester.

Matching Tuition Scholarship: This scholarship may be awarded to students who have received competitive external fellowships that cover living expenses but not tuition. Ten credits of tuition per semester are provided. Students must be nominated by the director of graduate studies in their program. This award is renewable as long as the student holds the fellowship, but a new request form must be submitted each year.

Tuition Scholarship (Merit): Merit-based scholarships provide 10 credits remission of tuition per semester and are available on a limited basis. These scholarships are for students who meet the following criteria:

✓ Legal resident of the State of Maryland
✓ First-year/first-time students in a graduate degree program at UMCP
✓ An overall undergraduate GPA of 3.75 or better from an accredited American or University.
✓ Applicants may not be fully employed and must be committed to full-time study.

These scholarships are nonrefundable. Awards are made in late spring.

Need-Based Support

Need-based support is determined on evidence of a student’s financial need. Graduate students may receive such aid in the form of Federal Stafford Loans, Perkins Loans, Federal Work Study and Graduate Grants, as well as state programs for Maryland residents. The Office of Student Financial Aid (OSFA) assists students in financing their education through these need-based programs. Interested students must Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to determine their eligibility for need-based awards. Students who wish to be considered for the widest array of aid options must submit their FAFSA to the processor by February 15th each year. The University of Maryland at College Park (#002103) must be included in the College Release section of the FAFSA in order for the processed information to be sent to UMCP.

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid and the Stafford Loan application can be obtained at the Public Inquiry counter of the Office of Student Financial Aid, room 0110 Lee Building. For more detailed information, please contact OSFA at 301-314-8313.
GRADUATE COURSE GUIDELINE

60 credit MFA Program Requirements:

- Studio Courses: 30-33 credit hours
- Art History/Art Theory: 6 credit hours
- Graduate Colloquium: 12 credit hours
- Thesis: 9 credit hours
- "Teaching Internship: 0-3 credit hours"

Total Credit: 60 credit hours total

Note: The teaching internship listed above is optional. It may be substituted for up to three studio credit hours during semester I, II, or VI. This is a way for graduate students without assistantships to gain teaching experience in our program.

Sample three year course breakdown for a typical MFA student in a proposed program...

Note: In both the current and proposed MFA Program all graduate studio courses are independent studies in which the student signs up with individual faculty. In order to streamline the Graduate Program structure regarding course numbering and credit level we are proposing that all graduate studio courses be offered as Graduate Directed Studies repeatable to the requisite number of credits: Art 698 for first year students, Art 699 for second year students and Art 798 for third year students.

The Washington/Baltimore Metro Area

The University of Maryland College Park is within 8 miles of the National Gallery of Art, the National Museum of American Art, the National Portrait Gallery, the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture garden, Corcoran Gallery, the Phillips Collection, the National Museum of Women in the Arts, the Museum of African Art and other Smithsonian Institutions. The Baltimore Museum of Art and the Walters Art Gallery is approx. 45 minutes away from the University in near by Baltimore.

In addition to the museums and other significant institutions in the area, there are a wide variety of commercial and cooperative galleries which exhibit a broad spectrum of art. Of special note are the Washington Project for the Art/Corcoran (WPA/C), the District of Columbia Art Center (DCAC), School 33 Art Center (Baltimore), and Maryland Art Place (MAP). These are artist-run organizations that emphasize experimental, cutting-edge works of a noncommercial nature.

The Washington/Baltimore Metropolitan area has the kind of cultural depth one expects of major cities and the efficient subway system that makes many points of special interest accessible. The international nature of Washington DC is an exciting element in relation to the programs at Maryland and adds to the multicultural education that is offered at the University. Another significant feature of the area is its proximity to other cultural centers such as New York (4hrs) and Philadelphia (2.5 hrs).

SPECIAL PROGRAMS IN THE DEPT. OF ART

Galleries

The Art Gallery, an independent until that works closely with both the Department of Art and the Department of Art History and Archaeology, maintains a collection of 20th Century American paintings and works on paper as well as a collection of African Sculpture. Located within the Art/Sociology building, it functions as an excellent teaching facility. The staff, which includes a full-time director and associate personnel, organizes and hosts major exhibitions of historical and contemporary art. In the “Crosscurrents” series the Gallery invites guests curators to organize contemporary exhibitions each year. Held for the benefits of the University community and the general public, the exhibitions also attract critical attention. Major catalogues are published each year.

The West Gallery, which is student organized and run, provides a unique space for both graduate and undergraduate student exhibitions as well as a forum for discussion and social interaction. Other activities in this pace include special teaching projects, films, seminars, slide lectures and performances.

Visiting Artists

The Department of Art maintains a Visiting Artist Lecture Series that features artists of international, national and regional acclaim. These artists lecture, critique and interact with students. Individual studio visits with graduate students are commonly arranges. Visiting artists and lecturers in recent years include: Claudia Demonte, Faith Ringold, Skip Van Houten, Laure Drogoul Jon Isherwood, Andrew Dunhill, Emma Amos, Dottie Attie, Luis Cruz Azaceta, Edgar Heap-of Birds, Christo and Jeanne Claude, Robert Colescott, Houston Conwell, Gene Davis, Georgia Deal, Thelma Golden, B.G. Muhn, Gladys Nilson, Howardena Pindell, Steve Prince, John Scott, Sylvia Snowden, Robert Stackhouse, Marcia Tucker, Jack Witten and Yuriko Yamaguchi. Additionally, the Department contributed funding for a lecture and demonstration by Catherine Cho-Woo (a calligrapher), brought to a campus by the Department of Hebrew and East Asian Languages and Literature.
THE DEPARTMENT OF ART FACULTY

Full Professors

Tadeusz Lapinski - (Printmaking & Watercolor, Works on Paper, MFA) Professor Tadeusz Lapinski attended the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw, Poland. He has been a member of the department since 1972. Prof. Lapinski has gained national and international reputation with over 150 solo exhibitions around the world since 1956.
